

Adaptive Hardware Techniques for Improved Power Management of Radio Transceivers

Dr. Lawrence Larson, UC San Diego

Abstract:

The use of adaptive techniques to minimize energy usage in portable wireless transceivers has the potential to improve battery life in a variety of applications. This talk will summarize the techniques being developed in the area of receiver and transmitter design, as well as improved network protocols, that can lead to improved energy efficiency.