

Laws That Govern The Internet

Harvey M Gates, PhD, PE
Professor in Residence
University of Colorado at Boulder
Interdisciplinary Telecommunications Program
College of Engineering and Applied Sciences

September 7, 2000

Session Abstract

The Internet as we currently know it was the product of a culmination of several disruptive technologies. And, there's more to come. To some extent there are several key "laws" that have given some predictability to Internet growth and its infrastructure. This session presents several of these laws and findings. There appears to be no end in sight according to these findings. Additional data will be presented which reinforced these Internet outlooks.