

Dr. Ray W. Nettleton: Bio

Ray Nettleton is a Consultant with some 40 years experience in telecommunications, specializing in technical, regulatory and business issues surrounding leading-edge wireless systems worldwide. His consulting clients have included Clearwire Technologies; ISCO International; Military Commercial Technologies; Velocom; Ball Aerospace; Harris Corp.; RHK Consulting Group; MCI; Motorola; Avantel de Mexico; United International Holdings; Mobile Systems International; Anritsu Wiltron; the Becker Group; AirCell; Unisite; US Air Force and Navy; and NASA. Dr Nettleton was a founder member, Senior Vice President and Chief Technology Officer of Formus Communications, a wireless broadband local access provider throughout Europe. Earlier he was Director & Distinguished Member of the Technical Staff at U S WEST Advanced Technologies (now Qwest) and a consultant at Booz•Allen & Hamilton. Dr. Nettleton holds the first two U. S. patents in CDMA for cellular, awarded in 1979, and has published over 70 technical papers. In April of 2000 he was elected to the Broadband Solutions Hall of Fame.